"COAL OIL JOHNNY:" KING OF SPENDTHRIFTS

CAREER OF YOUNG MAN WHO SQUANDERED MILLIONS WITH-IN SEVEN MONTHS.

RECORD THAT HAS NEVER BEEN BEATEN

John W. Steele, Who Acquired a World-Wide Reputation by Throwing Money to the Winds, Dies in Poverty in Pennsylvania Near Scene of the Source of His Wealth.

house on a little farm near Franklin, dependent for life. in the northwestern part of Pennsylthe world has ever known.

of sight of the general public, but the after the death of McClintock. record he established in the few short months that he was rolling in wealth will long be remembered.

Has Wealth Untold.

$4,000,000.

Be the amount the first or last named, the fact remains that in seven months' time from his coming into possession of this immense wealth he went through it and was broken. Inside of a year from the time he became a Croesus, he was back at the little go county, hustling trunks at $40 a month. He has been hustling ever rain money in such showers as did with his wagon. She made the last sad transit across the horizon. It is claim- a can of coal oil with the off-repeated ed that the newly-rich Pittsburg mil- result. There was an explosion and lionaire would look like a piker in his she was burned to death. spendings when lined up alongside the Philadelphia.-In an unpretentious | young woman enough to make her in-

Mrs. McClintock was a shrewd busivania, there died the other day a man nes woman and when oil was discovwho some 40 years ago acquired a ered on her farm she drove the closest most unique and remarkable distinc- bargains possible with the producers. tion. This person was John W. The pool under the McClintock farm Steele, better known as "Coal Oil bade fair to be inexhaustible and she Johnny," king of all the spendthrifts had little troubel in getting an almost fabulous sum in cash, reserving a big It is several years now since this royalty on all oil brought from her once famous character had passed out farm. This was about three years

But John Steele was not allowed to loaf because his foster mother then had money. He was sent out to work at driving wagons for the oil men. He Inside of 12 months, beginning at did not even have a team of his own, the close of 1863, John Steele did per- but hired out as a driver, and each haps more to advertise the wealth of Saturday night his earnings were the Pennsylvania oil region than any brought home and given to Mrs. Mcother ten men. He advertised its Clintock, who dumped them into the wealth by spending it. A beardless common hoard at the old farmhouse. boy, he woke one morning to find him- She rapidly accumulated bank stocks self possessed of untold wealth in bulk and valuable properties in surrounding and an income from oil royalties of towns and cities as well as in New $1,750 per day, Sundays included. He York and Philadelphia. But she never did not know the value of money, has changed the close, penurious style of not to this day any idea of how much living to which she and her husband money he had and spent, but it has had been forced when they were trying been estimated at from $1,500,000 to to pay for the rocky farm on the little run which afterwards became worldfamed as Oil creek.

Explosion Brings Millions.

She never hired a servant and never moved from the little farmhouse, which soon became hemmed in by oil wells. Always insisting on doing her own housework, she came to her death in a railroad station at Rouseville, Venan- most tragic way, while performing house duties, Early in 1863 Mrs. Mc-Clintock rose one morning before daysince to keep up with the grocer's bill. break, as usual, to prepare breakfast Never was there a man who made it for John Steele before he went out "Coal Oil Johnny" during his brief mistake of trying to light the fire with

In an old and crude safe in the cor-Rouseville, Pa., wagon driver who was per of one room in the little house there yet dark when young Steele borrowed on the market. One minute in obscuri- for her remained constant. There were in a night elevated to the millionaire was found $65,000 in gold. Subsequent a few thousands to continue the day's ty for "Coal Oil Johnny" was enough. no unsavory scandels with women conclass. The entire cost of the widely- discovery proved this was the savings heralded "Scotty" special last sum- of Mrs. McClintock for only a week or mer would not have furnished "Coal so. The exact amount of cash on hand days of '64. Steele simply couldn't never definitely known, but is supspend his money fast enough until he posed to have been far more than since set.

evolved the idea of hiring people to $1,000,000. There were, in addition, exhelp him, and then-well, the rest was tremely valuable oil properties besides

Adopted by a Farmer. John Steele was born near Waterloo. Venango county, Pa., in the fall of 1841. He was left an orphan when but a few years of age and when between seven and eight years of age was adopted by Culbertson McClintock, a well-to-do farmer living on the outtock owned his own farm, since famed From it millions of dollars' worth of oil was taken years later.

the McClintock farm which was at this time belching forth royalties at the south and east and from the gold Had Steele in his mad career of spendrate of $1,750 a day for the McClintock heir, John Steele.

Yet he couldn't enter into the full enjoyment of this money, for he was skirts of what is now Oil City. McClin- not of age, and the proper authorities shown that he los, on a turn of the he might have cornered the market. simply took the immense estate in hand in oil history as "The McClintock for the few short months which dimillions. During this short time Steele It was not for Culbertson McClin- showed some good business jud ment. tock, however, to reap the benefits of There were hundreds who would have the oil. He died some three years loaned him anything on his prospects. before oil was discovered on his place, but to his credit be it said he did not and when his will was read it was go heavily into debt. He was content wife during her life, and it was then and in the meantime, through the prop-

John quit working at once. He never went back to work after the tragic specially crooked faro boxes and rou- spenuing at that time had reached such death of his foster parent.

card. He was always shown. His This offer to buy out the Bradford Oil losings at the gaming table in the first Exchange was as near as "Coal Oil vided the young wagon driver from his half of his moneyed career were some- Johnny" ever came to dabbling in the thing fabulous. Then he seemed to fluid which had made his fortune, tire all at once of the game and sought new fields for enjoyment. Horse That Drank Champagne. One night at Bradford, Steele rode country by one of his purchases. He down the main street at full speed on walked into one of the leading hotels found that he had left the farm to his to wait until the money came to him, a beautiful mare, for which he had of the region, and seeking the proprispaid $3,000, and through the swinging tor said: to go to John Steele, his adopted son. er authorities, he sold an atom of his doors of a saloon where 100 oil men There was also an adopted daughter, big interests just at the time the oil were doing their best to emulate him want to buy it. How much is it, spot named Emily Scott, but she does not boom reached the crest. He disposed in getting rid of their money. He did cash. I'm Johnny Steele and I have appear to have been left anything by of the two Lone Star wells to John not know a soul, but that didn't mat-Mctrintock. Years later, when Steele Mawhinney for $65,000 cash. This went tor. was rolling in wealth, he gave to the into the common pool, which was "I'm Johany Steele. Close the doors at the beardless boy. It was his first swelling at an enormous rate, against and every one make a night of it with meeting with him. He had been used the day when Johnny Steele should be me. Give Bess a bottle of champagne to the bluffs of the newly rich in those come of age and come into his own.

Squanders $100,000 in a Day. former poor driver, who, in his child- said drank champagne. Bess, morene made the money fly caused even Steele surely made good when he startchase for wealth, to sit up and take was one of them. notice. There never was a spender like him before and few have imitated spend a cent. I'm Johnny Steele," desk himself, acting as clerk. He enand none equaled him since. His first was the favorite cry of the little fellow joyed this about an hour, then left the draw on what was considered an inex- as he entered a resort, and there were desk without anyone in charge, and haustible supply of wealth was $100,- always those within sound who at once went to the barroom, where he gave

And "the boys" were shown. Johnny things as dollars or small bilis. Steele started down the street with his thousand $500 bills, and to every one to start with."

lanche of money rolled down on the centered on the horse whom her owner wince, but Steele quickly said: a quarter to spend. The way in which outfit some hours later, for Johnny drink yourself to death." the oil region, then engaged in its mad ed out to "make a night of it," and this

"Nobody who hears my voice can not to come back, and went behind the began to figure just how expensive they the barkeepers each two months' wages "Gimme it in hundred dollar bills," could make the hour with Steele. There and told them to get out. He owned he said to the cashier of the Oil City is yet to be found the man who will the place and would run it himself. bank, to which he had walked from say he ever saw "Coal Oil Johnny" his home up Oil creek, at Rouseville. take a cent of change from the bar or of money to tire of his costly toy, and, "I want to show some of the boys a anywhere else, for that matter. For going out on the street, he met an imsuch as the young fellow was no such poverished acquaintance.

Lights Cigars with $100 Bills. What was considered the height of It's yours.' he met he presented one of the bills. his extravagance came one day when Those who hesitated and wanted to he entered the Oil Exchange at Bradknow why got two of the bills. He ford to look around. He never dabbled visit to Philadelphia and New York.

Coal Oil, Tohnny

skinned off a $100 note, and folding it had never before come under their noings and the gang gathered round "Coal

"Got to do it, gentlemen. Got to do

Tries to Buy Oil Exchange.

"Say, how much will you take for Such a proposition as buying the

in western Pennsylvania yet shiver

posed by Steele that day been possible.

Buys Hotel; Gives It Back.

Steele again electrified the upper oil

"I like the looks of this place and I

The proprietor of the hotel looked

It was a few days after this that up, and threw away the icear

who had for months been waiting for money go," he always said when asked stopped his indiscriminate giving- bit of a fiver in oil. But on this occa-

his wealth was Seth Slocum, a gam- the century note, he watched it burn

he would almost invariably toss his used to making and losing fortunes in winnings to the dealer or some by- a day, but such wanton waste of money

"Buy yourself a new hat and have tice. There was a lull in the proceed-

But the ordinary roulette wheel or Oil Johnny." Then he was happy. He wanted it in bunches. He seldom if it. Can't spend my money fast enough, ever played poker. "There's too much so I have to burn it up," he said, as he time lost dealing and drawing cards," strutted up to the main desk in the big Oil Johnny" was to walk into a gam- own the Oil Exchange for one after-bling room with a few of his choice noon," said "Coal Oil Johnny," really a fearful figure, and then would take proprietor? Tell him Johnny Steele is his place at the dealer's chair and loan here and wants to buy the place. I'll his friends money to play against him- give it back to him to-morrow; make a card won or lost for the house, and Bradford Oil Exchange was impossible, so this was the easiest of picking for but it was about the only thing that the sharks who had associated them- John Steele ever liked in those days

The news soon spread throughout when they think what might have hapthe world of this modern lad of money pened had such a thing as that pro-camps of California came gamblers ing got control of the oil market for with the old brace games for fleecing even one day he would have made lette wheels were made, for he did not proportions that he would have stop-long remain in ignorance of the games | ped at nothing to gain additional no-he was now known, was the biggest it with a new $100 bill.

the faro deal was too slow for "Coal had attracted attention.

self. He didn't know much about deal- him a present of it."

He wanted action, and he used to say, when pressed to sit in room.

a game. "It's too slow; it's an old ing faro, could scarcely tell whether and that he was easy. From the north,

they wanted it themselves.

Downfall Laid to Gamblers.

bler, and to the work of Slocum friends of Steele attribute his downfall. It was plunger of them all at the gaming ta-stander, saying:

Oil Johnny."

ladies' game."

a drink on Johnny Steele."

days of mushroom fortunes, and he Bess was the beautiful little mare named a sum that would have made At last the time came, and an ava- he rode, and immediately interest was a man of many times Steele's millions

"Done. I'll write you a check and hood days, had never had so much as over, was the only sober one of the you go down and get it cashed and

> He wrote the check, declined a receipt for the place, and, handing the proprietor his hat and coat, told him It took but a few hours for the lad

"Billy," he said, "take this old hotel. I bought it, but I'm tired of it.

About this time "Coal Off Johnny" tired of the oil region and paid a flying had not gone far until some of those in oil himself. "I want to see my He remained only a short time, but stories of his fearful and wonderful feats of spending money there came back to Venango county. One of his jokes was to hire as many cabs as would accommodate his friends, one in a cab, and lead the procession himself, sitting on the driver's seat with $100 bills in his hat, drive round the streets of the town until all were tired, then "Coal Oil Johnny" would go along the line buying the horse and cab from each astonished driver, then return and present each driver with his own rig

End of His Career.

But it was not long until the money of "Coal Oil Johnny," like all good things, came to an end. Like a flash it had come to him and almost like a flash the end came. In a little over seven months from the time he came into his vast fortune he returned to Rouseville, a few miles up Oil creek above Oil City, and asked for a job of any sort. He was given the position of roustabout at the little railroad station there, but he soon fled west to escape sightseers and newspaper men who came from far and near to see and talk with the man who had spent millions in such a short time. He lived for a long time on a farm in Iowa, then moved to Kansas, where he remained until a short time ago. While spending the holidays with a friend in sight of the old McClintock farm he was stricken with pneumonia, from which he died.

Unlike millionaires of the present day, Johnny Steele did not turn from his wife in the days of his affluence. Nor did she, in the ensuing years of poverty, waver in her affection. When this windfall got Steele in tow and to invest in some seemingly luscious quite young he married Eleanor J. Moffitt, his childhood chum. The knot sion he came in from the street and was tied just before the immense for-The history of that day will long be stood unnoticed by many of the oil tune was inflicted on him, and in his remembered in Oil City. It was not kings who were scrambling for a shade wild days of money spending his love spending. To Steele, with his new mil- The next moment he had clogged the nected with the wild spending of Johnlions, borrowing was the easiest of wheels of the oil exchange. He stepped ny Steele, and all his wild pranks were things. In his later years he would out where he could be seen, selected a played when away from Mrs. Steele. as a lighter struck a match and lit ering, condoled with him when it was One of those who early attached the $100 bill, then touched it to his all gone, but remained steadfast in her himself to young Steele in the hour of cigar. After getting a good light from love for him through all the dreary, poverty-ridden years that followed, faithful, loving, tender to the end.

"Faugh! That's a bad one," he said, not long until "Coal Oil Johnny," as as he tried another cigar, and also lit LOUIS PHILIPPE'S FALL. Excitement in the French Capital This simply paralyzed the members ble. He seldom won and when he did of the big oil exchange. They had been When the Monarch Was > Deposed. One morning toward the end of February, 1848, I sat quietly in my attic chamber working hard at my tragedy of Ulrich von Hutten, relates a writer in McClure's, when suddenly a friend rushed breathlessly into the room, exclaiming: "What, you sitting here! Do you not know what has happened?" "No, what?" "The French have driven away Louis Philippe and proclaimed a republic." I threw down my pen-and that One of the favorite stunts of "Coal the whole place. I'll buy. I want to was the end of my Ulrich von Hutten. I never touched the manuscript again. We tore down the stairs into the triends and ask the proprietor to sell in earnest, and seemingly thinking he street to the market square, the accustomed meeting place for all the nim the place. He usually bought at could buy the place. "Where's the student societies after their midday dinner. Although it was still forenoon, the market was already crowded with young men, talking excitedly. There was no shouting, no noise, only agitated conversation. What did we want there? This probably no one knew. But since the French had selves with the little king of spend- that he couldn't buy. Veteran oil men driven away Louis Philippe and proclaimed the republic, something, of course, must happen here, too. Some of the students had brought their rapiers along, as if it were necessary at once to make an attack or to defend ourselves. We were dominated by a vague feeling that a great out-Johnny Steele. For him, 'tis now said, widespread trouble. His mania for break of elemental forces had begun. as if an earthquake was impending of which we had felt the first shock, and we instinctively crowded together. and the time came when he had to be tice, and with the millions he then had Thus we wandered about in numerous bands to the "Knelpe," where our restlessness, however, would not suffer us long to stay; then to other pleasure resorts, where we fell into conversation with all manner of strangers, to find in them the same confused, astonished and expectant state of mind; then back to the market square, to see what might be going on there; then again somewhere else, and so on, without aim and end, until finally late in the night fatigue compelled us to find the way home.

> Linen suits and collars and belts that are laid in the sun to dry after ironing will be much stiffer than if dried on

PAIN IN THE JOINTS

Rheumatic Tortures Cease When Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Make New Blood.

The first sign of rheumatism is frequently a pain and swelling in one of the joints. If not combated in the blood, which is the seat of the disease, the poison spreads, affecting other joints and tissues. Sometimes rheumatism attacks the heart and is quickly fatal.

The one remedy that has cured rheumatism so that it stays cured is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills expel the poison from the blood and restore the system, so that the poisonous matter is passed off as nature intended. Mrs. I. T. Pitcher, of No. 130 Mon-month street, Newark, N. J., suffered for about three years from rheumatism before she found this cure. She says: "It began with a queer feeling in my fingers. In a little time it seemed as though the finger joints had lumps on them and I could not get my gloves on.

"Then it grow werse and spread to my knees. I could not stand up and I could not sleep nights. My suffering was more than I can describe. I took : great deal of medicine, but nothing even gave me relief until I tried Dr. Williams

"I read an account of a cure in a case that was exactly like mine and my hus-band got me some of the pills. I took band got me some of the pills. I took them for three weeks before I really felt better but they finally cured me."

Mr. Pitcher, who is a veteran and a member of E. D. Morgan Post, No. 307 of New York, substantiates his wife's statement and says that she now walks without difficulty, whereas a year ago he was compelled to push her about in a wheeled chair. Both Mr. and Mrs. Pitcher are enthusiastic in their praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

For further information, address the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N.Y.

Positively cured by these Little Pills., They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect rem-edy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Tasto in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

LEARNED OF WRITERS.

Paul Heyse is accredited with being one of the most famous living German novelists, who is almost as well known in America as in the Fatherland.

Mary A. Fisher, of New York, will write a novel and devote the proceeds of the sale to the support of a home, nonsectarian, and to care for those who have labored in literature, art, education, or any of the various professions.

Mrs. Schuyler Crowninshield, wife of the admiral, has written several stories, and recently has made her first effort at a stage production which deals with the revolutionary war and has been recently produced in New York and groused enthusiasm.

Emil Zerkowitz, the noted Hungarian special envoy by his government with the purpose of establishing important commercial relations between that country and this, recently arrived in New York. He has a boy named ' George Washington Zerkowitz, who was born on February 22, 1903.

It is stated that Winston Churchill is to receive the sum of $40,000 down and royalties for his biography of his father, the late Lord Randolph Churchill. People marvel how he has found time to write it, considering what a busy man he is. When John Morley wrote the life of Gladstone, for which he received $50,000, it took him three years to complete it, and he practically shut himself up for that period, keeping right away from pub-

THE LITTLE WIDOW.

A Mighty Good Sort of Neighbor to Have.

"A little widow, a neighbor of mine, persuaded me to try Grape-Nuts when my stomach was so weak that it would not retain food of any other kind," writes a grateful woman, from San Bernardino Co., Cal.

"I had been ill and confined to my bed, with fever and nervous prostration for three long months after the birth of my second boy. We were in despair until the little widow's advice brought

"I liked Grape-Nuts food from the beginning, and in an incredibly short time it gave me such strength that I was able to leave my bed and enjoy my three good meals a day. In 2 months my weight increased from 95 to 113 pounds, my nerves had steadied down, and I felt ready for anything. My neighbors were amazed to see me gain so rapidly, and still more so when they heard that Grape-Nuts alone had brought the change.

"My 4-year-old boy had eczema, very bad, last spring, and lost his appetite entirely, which made him cross and peevish. I put him on a diet of Grape-Nuts, which he relished at once. He improved from the beginning, the eczema disappeared, and now he is fat and rosy, with a delightfully soft, clear skin. The Grape-Nuts diet did it. I will willingly answer all inquiries," Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason. Read the little book, "The R and to Wellville," in page,